

Texas A&M University – Kingsville - After Harvey, Stronger Together:

Javelina Helping Hands, Student Emergency Relief

Many Javelinas and our communities will continue to feel the impacts of Hurricane Harvey.

- As the Alumni Association began to hear from some of our friends in need, we wanted to create a place for the Javelina Community to connect, offer resources or find some help. The Javelina Helping Hands Facebook Group is just one way we thought we could help. We've already seen folks lending a hand to communities such as Refugio, Ingleside, Rockport and Aransas Pass. Other's have agreed to help clean homes in Houston that were flooded. Want to help? Join Javelina Helping Hands on Facebook today.
- "Give-the-Score" this Saturday to support the Student Emergency Relief Fund. In partnership with Javelina Athletics, the Foundation is accepting gifts online this Saturday during the Javelina Football game September 2nd. You can "Give-the-Score" on Saturday or make a donation today to help our Javelina students.
- For some of our students, Harvey has impacted their ability to make their first tuition payment, buy books, supplies and handle other expenses due to their family homes being flooded or destroyed. As a result, the Texas A&M University-Kingsville Foundation has establishing the Javelina Student Emergency Relief Fund.
